BUY AT HOME.

Nothing is more opportune at this season, the beginning of the holiday time of the year, than a few thoughts on patronizing home merchants, and this, of course, leads the mind at once to the mail order business, which in some communities is so injurious to home merchants and so detrimental to all home interests, since one home interest depends on all other home interests.

The mail order business is the quack doctor of commerce. It promises much and guarantees nothing.
Like patent medicines, the directions are always on the inside and one has to buy a non-returnable package before one can find out what they are.

No mail order house helped to build the little white school in the district or turnpike the road past one's door. No mail order house took one by the hand when in distress. No mail order house ever sold one goods and spent every cent of its profits in the community where the people could get it all back again.

All the mail order houses in Christendom would not increase the value of one's property and cent.
They are parasites to whom life is only possible as long as they can suck blood out of the communities, to the upbuilding of which they contribute nothing. They create no local market for the products one has for sale. They have no property in the county which can be assessed to help bear the burden of taxation.

The local dealer stands ready to duplicate every offer so seductively set forth in the catalogues of mail order houses and more. He will trump the best trick the mail order house ever played if one will put down spot cash and accept from him a class of goods devoid of respectable ancestry, and upon which no reputable manufacturer will place his name. He can sell cheap goods, too, if one will buy them from him with one's eyes shut.

Honestly, now, don't you really put yourself on the back when you spend your money in such a way that in supplying your own wants you help build up the neighborhood in which you live? Of course you do, and you act on that idea yourself, but the trouble is you don't talk it enough to your friends.

Stand by the local dealer as he stands by you with his time, skill, and his money. He helps to build up the community and he makes it a better place for you both to live.

His own success depends on your prosperity. He has no use for unvarnished junk. He swears by the goods branded with the trademark of the most skillful manufacturers on earth goods the like of which no other generation ever saw, and he has an abiding faith in the theory that the very best articles in all the world today are none too good for the major general of all industries—the American citizen.

Any mail order proposition takes the legitimate profits, which would otherwise go to your dealer and benefit you and your community, and invests it in a way that does not benefit you directly or indirectly.

When you buy from your local dealer and have his guarantee, his reputation is at stake in your community and you can walk right into

Unapproachable Beauty in November Hats his place of business and know you will get fair treatment, immediate consideration and a "square deal." Not so with a mail order proposition where you have signed your name to an innocent looking agreement in which you are led to believe everything is in your favor and the other fellow takes all the risk or where you pay your money in advance either to the shipper direct or in trust with a bank, express or freight agent. Always remember one thing that the other fellow, "a stranger to you," is looking out for himself and in case you are dissatisfied and want your money back you find out that there are conditions you did not think of that have to be met. In many cases you do not get your money back inside of two years and some cases never. You would be astonished to know the number of people that are imposed upon by this mail order business.

THE PRESIDENT EN VOYAGE

There is indeed a tremendous amount of unnecessary and uncal-culated for envying over President Roosvelt's trip to Panama and Porto Rico. As the Cincinnati Enquirer says, there is too much brewing of tempests in tea pots. Democratic newspapers, jealous of a highly successful administration are raising a great rumpus over the matter and are trying to prove something to the effect that the nation is going to everlasting smash because the President has broken one of the honored traditions of the nation and is leaving American soil when he has no real right to do so.

All this anxiety is senseless.
President Roosevelt is making a trip to the isthmus where the United States government is digging one of the largest and most needful canals in the world, a waterway that is to unite the two largest oceans and make the water route between our eastern and western shores and the countries on the east and west of us eleven to twelve thousand miles shorter and a waterway that will be of great naval and military importance to the country. Roosevelt is going down there to look after this work and to see about the government and executive rule of the strip of land the United States purchased for the canal. He goes on an official mission to carry out a part of the duties incumbent upon him as chief executive of the nation.
He is also going to Porto Rico, to personally look after conditions there and there is no doubt that his visit there will be of great good and better enable him to cope with measures affecting that insular possession of the country.

The President will not be off of American land and really no time honored tradition will be shattered.
The warship he is now upon is held to be American land, the strip of land the United States bought and paid for from Panama and Porto Rico are United States property and he will not have left the dominion of the nation at all.

The probable reason that other Presidents of the United States have not taken a sea voyage away from the coasts of the states is because they have not had any occasion to.
The United States has not until recently had any business off of the mainland of the original states. If there had been any work such as is now going on in Panama it is quite likely that there would not now be any claim to an "honored tradition."

The President will be in direct communication with the departments at Washington all the time and he will be in direct charge of the government all during his trip. He is merely doing his work as President as he thinks he should do it and it is characteristic of him whenever entering upon any undertaking, to throw his whole soul into the work, to give his best efforts and to secure nothing to bring about a successful culmination of it, so is he doing now his duties as he conscientiously believes to be the right way and the best way. The people of the nation should give him all the more honor and appreciation for the trip he is now taking.

GAS WASTE.

Nothing is more timely than the agitation at this time for legislation against the wanton waste of gas in West Virginia. It is gratifying to note that the matter will be placed before the coming legislature in an intelligent, forceful manner, and that Hon. W. P. Hubbard is one of those chosen for that purpose. This latter fact gives the guarantee that something effective will be done.

State Geologist White is enlisted in the movement. He tells an astounding tale but true to the letter.
Fuel of this sort is running short in a number of fields and more remote fields are being pined. The driller, the operator, the owner of gas wells neglect, because of its immediate plentifulness, to take proper steps to stop waste of the gas, and resulting therefrom hundreds of millions of feet escape without being of any earthly use. The state has been greatly blessed with this great natural resource and all of it should be converted to use, or rather none of it should be allowed to escape without being used.

A bill should be prepared and passed that will be a complete remedy. Harrison county is one of the great gas belts and the Telegram believes it speaks for the representatives from this county in the legislature, when it says they are eager to support such a bill. With the other counties as anxious to take this step, the passage of such a bill is assured.

The Democrats now admit the state went at least twenty-one thousand for the Republican party.
That is the figure given now by the Wheeling Register. It dispels the idea that the Democrats made great gains and convinces every one that West Virginia is in the Republican column to stay. There is no other possible conclusion, when one takes into consideration that in an off year the Republican majority in the state is but a little more than two thousand less than in the last Presidential year. Even the Democratic leaders are awakening to the hopelessness of their cause in West Virginia and are silent as mummies as to how it happened and what they think of the future of their party in this state.

The new tax laws and the promises of the Republican party were indorsed and believed by the people at the recent election. Now, as to those promises there is nothing in them except to revise the new laws where they conflicted with any inequality. No hope was held out that the new laws were to be repealed. It was the Democratic party that was to do that. The laws were held up as good, and in the interest of the people. Their champions admitted that they might need some amendment and the party promised to make such amendment, if found necessary, to make them fair and just, but none need think because such promise was made that the new laws will be tinkered with and amended in the interests of the big interests as against the common people, as that was never promised and will not be done.

JAMESTOWN EXPO- SITION NOTES.

The Heptasophs, or "Seven Wis-Men," are coming to the Jamestown Exposition next year to hold their biennial convocation, and June 5 has been designated as "Heptasoph Day."

Arrangements are being made to secure the Spanish musician Philip-pini, and his band for a series of concerts at the Jamestown Exposition. This organization comprises artists of international reputation, among them Gini, the tenor who it is said is directly descended from the nobility of Spain.

The annual convocation of the Royal Arch Masons will meet at the Exposition in 1907, and will mark the home coming from all over the country of members of this branch of Masonry.

"The Canoe Trail" at the Exposition, promises to be one of the distinctive attractions of the celebration. The banks of the "Trail" will be lined on both sides with oaks and weeping willows, and dotted with thousands of beautiful flowers and shrubs. A winding path which connects with this beauty spot is called "Flirtation Walk" affording unequalled opportunities for romantic strolls.

A piece of the original cloth from which the first Confederate uniforms were made will be shown at the Jamestown Exposition.

A Bold Robbery

"Raffles, the Amateur Crack-man" can be seen at the Bijou Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. He is known throughout the world as one of the shrewdest, and boldest robbers in history. When you see how he baffles the police you will admit this. This picture is very fine, and also very true to life. It is very exciting and interesting and will please all.

OVERCOAT TALK!

Did you ever stop to think that it's harder to please one's self in an overcoat than any other wearing apparel?

Our reason is, you wear it longer, in fact you never wear one out.

Then there are so many details to be considered:

The weight, shade, pattern, style and quality of the cloth, Cravanette or no, style of make, length of coat, full box, medium or body-fitting, bell skirt or form fitting, vent or no vent, self or velvet col-
